

Procenta®

Placental – Derived Allograft

Why Placental-Derived?

The placenta contains everything the baby needs to support its growth and development. It also acts as a protective barrier for the child during pregnancy.

For over 100 years, products derived from birth tissue have contributed to the treatment of conditions associated with debilitating pain, amputation, corneal blindness, and other various medical ailments<sup>1</sup>.

Why Procenta®?

Unlike other products, Procenta® is never frozen. It is created using our Nativus® process which allows the tissue to retain its natural properties.

Procenta® is easily applied by your physician regardless of size, shape, or longevity of the treatment area.

Uniquely, Procenta® protects the treatment site from the environment while also naturally maintaining appropriate hydration.

Procenta® can be applied during your routine office visit and is frequently used in outpatient procedures.

[1] Nathanael Heckmann, MD, Richard Auran, BS, and Raffy Mirzayan, MD. Application of Amniotic Tissue in Orthopedic Surgery. The American Journal of Orthopedics

How is tissue donated?

The placenta is typically discarded after the birth of the baby. However in tissue donation, mothers make an informed decision to “pay it forward” after a scheduled caesarean section delivery. There are no side effects or risks associated with the donation of the birth tissue to either the mother or child.

Is Procenta® Safe?

Both birth mother and donated tissue are thoroughly screened and tested to ensure that the product is safe for transplantation. To further minimize risk, it is terminally sterilized.

Is there any risk of rejection?

When the tissue is processed, cellular components (including blood cells) are removed to prevent the chance of tissue rejection. Anti-rejection drugs are not required for the transplant recipient.

Is Procenta® right for me ?

The use of Procenta® has been shown to be an effective treatment option. Consult with your physician to discuss your current condition.

Get back to the REAL you!

Ask your physician about using Procenta® today!
Call: 720.639.9751 www.lucinabio.org